

AAS 3394 Poverty & Inequality in Urban America

Thursdays 5:30 - 8:30 PM McElhinney Room 111

Professor Carley Shinault

Urban centers throughout America are experiencing rapid transformations as affluent residents migrate from other areas. The implications of urban revitalization, gentrification, and residential migration have attracted widespread interest and ongoing debate among scholars across a range of disciplines. AAS 3394 introduces students to the development, issues, and challenges confronting American cities and metropolitan areas and attempts to remedy social, political, and economic conflicts over time.

Who is most vulnerable to displacement?

Persons of Color

People 25 and older without a Bachelor's Degree

Renters

People making at or below 80% Median Family Income

Households with children in poverty